I have to report that we did not get enough signatures to make our referendum a success.

This is not the last or tallest hurdle facing Greg Jamison and the Coyotes before he actually receives any of the $308 million which Clark, Frate, Knaack and Martinez want to give this California carpetbagger. Someone like the Goldwater Institute will have a very strong case if they challenge the lopsided lease with our city in court.

Mostly, thank all of you for your efforts that collected so many signatures. We lost because the money we expected to help pay signature collectors did not materialize.

On the positive side, it has already been thirty days since our four reckless spenders voted to give away $308 million of our tax dollars.

Have a nice day.
